Children's Health Insurance Rates, 2014

- Data from the Georgetown University Center for Children & Families (January 2016)
 - Examines rates of change in coverage for children from 2013 to 2014
 - The rate of uninsurance among children dropped to a historic low of 6% following implementation of the Affordable Care Act
 - Significant decreases in 25 states

* Change is significant at the 90% confidence level. 2013 was the only year that did not show a significant one-year decline in the national rate of uninsured children.

Who are the Remaining Uninsured?

- Data from the Urban Institute (March 2016)
 - 10% have incomes at or below 200% of the federal poverty level
 - 47% live in southern states
 - 67% of uninsured children are eligible for Medicaid or CHIP, compared with only 21% of uninsured adults

Connecting Kids to Coverage National Campaign

- A national outreach and enrollment initiative established in 2009 to find and enroll uninsured children and teens in Medicaid and CHIP.
- Lets families know who is eligible, what benefits children can get and how to apply for coverage.
- Engages trusted national and community partners.
- Creates, customizes and distributes a variety of outreach materials (print, video, digital).

Two Generation Approach

- When parents are covered it's more likely:
 - Eligible children will get covered
 - Get the preventive care every child needs
- When parents get enrolled, they:
 - improve their own health
 - protect the family's financial security
 - can get more engaged in child-focused activities

Current Campaign Priorities

- Emphasizing year-round enrollment
- Underscoring that more parents—and other family members—may qualify for Medicaid too
- Focusing on hard-to-reach populations
- Targeting Back-to-School as a key moment in time to enroll kids

American Indians and Alaska Natives who are eligible for Medicaid or CHIP:

- Can still get care from your Indian care provider.
- Don't have to pay premiums or co-payments.
- Indian trust income is not counted to determine eligibility and is protected from Medicaid estate recovery rules.

You benefit by having greater access to health care services.

Tribes benefit because their health programs get more resources.

To find out if you qualify, visit HealthCare.gov or call 1-800-318-2596 or contact your local Indian health care provider for help applying.
