Provider Enrollment Requirements

The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS) is working hard to prevent fraud, waste, and abuse in the Medicaid program and adopted regulations under the Affordable Care Act. These regulations should more effectively prevent fraudulent providers from enrolling, or continuing to participate in, Medicaid or the Children’s Health Insurance Program (CHIP). The regulations require State Medicaid agencies (SMAs) to gather and verify relevant provider-submitted information. The SMAs must check specifically named databases to verify eligibility under Federal and State requirements for that provider type. SMAs will phase in using these databases to screen managed care providers by July 1, 2018.[1]

Individual providers must disclose:
- Date of birth and Social Security Number (SSN);
- Licenses and certifications;
- National Provider Identifier;
- Criminal convictions related to Federal health care programs; and
- Ownership of, and significant business transactions with, wholly owned suppliers and subcontractors.[2]

Provider entities such as corporations must disclose:
- Name and addresses of any persons with an ownership or control interest in the entity;
- Whether a person with an ownership interest is related to another person with an ownership or control interest;
- Names of other entities the owner has an ownership or control interest in; and
- Name, address, date of birth, and SSN of any managing employee.[3]

SMAs must revalidate the enrollment of all providers at least every 5 years.[4] Revalidation requires confirming the accuracy of the information disclosed during enrollment, collecting updated disclosures, and rescreening. However, the SMA may generally rely on a screening of the same provider in the same risk category by Medicare within the last 12 months or another State’s Medicaid or CHIP program.[5, 6, 7]

States may establish additional or more stringent disclosure requirements for individuals or entities[8] to prevent fraudulent providers from program participation.
