Quality and Resource Use Report (QRUR) Template for Medical Practice Groups

This sample report "template" displays the type of information that will be available late in 2010 to approximately 36 medical practice groups. For purposes of these first quality and resource use reports for medical practice groups, we have selected medical groups that serve at least 5,000 Medicare beneficiaries. The groups were identified through the common tax identification number (TIN) on Medicare claims submitted by physicians practicing in one of 12 metropolitan areas during 2007. At this time, group-level confidential feedback reports have been created only for these 36 medical practice groups.

Please note that the data contained within this template is not real data and is only used for purposes of illustrating the kind of data contained within this report.

Detailed Methodology Specifications for the 2010 Quality and Resource Use Reports (QRURs)

This document provides details of the methodology used to produce the 2010 QRURs in Phase II, one for medical practice groups (MPGs) and another for individual physicians and other eligible professionals (EPs) billing under the MPGs ("affiliated" EPs). The methodology was developed through a multitude of option documents, presentations, field testing of Phase I and Phase II report designs with physicians across the country, and feedback from physicians who received physician feedback reports in Phase I of the project. This document supplements the concise methodology appendix that accompanies the 2010 QRURs prepared for approximately 36 MPGs and 1,600 EPs affiliated with those MPGs.
