

With help from his Grandmother Ruth,
Dayton Hoblet of False Pass knows that good health is always a good catch.

Traditionally, health care providers on the Aleutian Chain were healers who had learned the ways of their elders and delivered care that was culturally appropriate to the needs of their communities. Anna Hoblet was one such beloved healer in False Pass. Granddaughter Nikki got hooked on the health care field and following her grandmother's lead, became a Community Health Aide/Practitioner, and now works at the clinic that bears her grandmother's name, the Anna Hoblet Memorial Health Clinic. The Hoblet family knows the value of "reeling" in correct information when you have to tackle difficult health issues by being informed, asking questions, and getting involved in making decisions about your health.

Nothing about me, without me!

- ◆ Adak
- ◆ Akutan
- ◆ Cold Bay
- ◆ False Pass

Eastern Aleutian Tribes

participates in
INNOVATIONS IN PLANNED CARE

- ◆ King Cove
- ◆ Nelson Lagoon
- ◆ Sand Point
- ◆ Whittier

Working Together to Promote Healthy Communities