Function of the INDEPENDENCE iBOT 4000 Mobility System meets the definition of DME under section 1861(n) of the Medicare program and is reasonable and necessary for beneficiaries who have a personal mobility deficit sufficient to impair their participation in mobility-related activities of daily living, e.g., toileting, feeding, dressing, grooming, bathing, in customary locations in the home.

- Effective for services performed on or after July 27, 2006, the 4-wheel, Balance, Stair, and Remote Functions of the INDEPENDENCE iBOT 4000 Mobility System do not meet the definition of DME under section 1861(n) of the Medicare program.

Background

This article and related change request (CR) 5372 alerts providers that a new Section 280.15 was added to the Medicare National Coverage Determination (NCD) Manual as a result of the July 27, 2006, NCD decision memo for the INDEPENDENCE iBOT 4000 Mobility System.

The change clarifies the coverage policy for this particular power mobility device. The addition to the coverage manual will indicate that CMS will provide coverage for the Standard Function of the INDEPENDENCE iBOT 4000 Mobility System, which meets the definition of DME under section 1861(n) of the Social Security Act, as a wheelchair used in the patient's home that is reasonable and necessary for beneficiaries who have a personal mobility deficit sufficient to impair their participation in mobility-related activities of daily living, e.g., toileting, feeding, dressing, grooming, bathing, in customary locations in the home.

Medicare uses an algorithmic process in determining the presence of a mobility deficit in Chapter 1, Part 4, Section 280.3 of the Medicare NCD Manual, which is available at <http://www.cms.gov/Regulations-and-Guidance/Guidance/Manuals/Internet-Only-Manuals-IOMs.html> on the CMS site. This approach is also outlined in the MLN Matters article, MM3791, which is available at <http://www.cms.gov/outreach-and-education/medicare-learning-network-mln/mlnmattersarticles/downloads/MM3791.pdf> on the CMS site.
