Caring for Medicare Patients is a Partnership

PROVIDER TYPES AFFECTED

Physicians, other health care providers and suppliers who give services for a Medicare patient.

BACKGROUND

As a patient’s treating physician or nonphysician practitioner, you may order, refer and/or give health care services for your patient in partnership with other providers. Understanding the applicable Medicare coverage criteria (for example, medical necessity) and documentation guidelines for those services is extremely important for the accurate and timely processing and payment of both your claims and the claims of other entities, including physicians, other health care providers and suppliers who give services for your patient.

Other physicians and health care providers may need your documentation or certification supporting the medical necessity of the services they give secondary to your referral or order. Audits conducted by the Comprehensive Error Rate Testing (CERT) program, Recovery Audit Contractors (RACs), Recovery Auditors (RAs) and Medicare Administrative Contractors (MACs) have frequently shown that available documentation lacks information to establish medical necessity. Audits also have consistently shown that the medical records given by physicians lack sufficient documentation to justify an item or service ordered by them. This lack of physician documentation is causing a lack of payment for services, and may result in denied or delayed care for your patient.

Cooperation of all providers of services to supply the necessary documentation and information is a requirement outlined in Section 1842(p)(4) of the Social Security Act. It states in part:

[i]n case of an item or service...ordered by a physician or a practitioner...but furnished by another entity, if the Secretary (or fiscal agent of the Secretary) requires the entity furnishing the item or service to provide diagnostic or other medical information in order for payment to be made to the entity, the physician or practitioner shall provide that information to the entity at the time that the item or service is ordered by the physician or practitioner.

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) Privacy Rule permits disclosure of protected health information without patient authorization to carry out treatment, payment, or health care operations. Giving requested documentation cannot be charged for and is not a HIPAA violation.
In the paragraphs below, we define Medical Necessity and Necessity of Documentation, and give a list of what to include in your medical documentation.

MEDICAL NECESSITY DEFINED

Under Title XVIII of the Social Security Act, Section 1862 (a)(1)(A), as “No payment may be made under Part A or Part B for expenses incurred for items or services which…are not reasonable and necessary for the diagnosis or treatment of illness or injury or to improve the functioning of a malformed body member…”

NECESSITY OF DOCUMENTATION

Appropriate documentation substantiates the necessity for those services or items given or ordered. Coverage of services by Medicare depends on sufficient documentation to support medical necessity of the service(s). The documentation should give a complete picture of what occurred during the encounter and why services you ordered/gave are necessary.

Documentation Supporting Medical Necessity must be complete, legible, and include, at a minimum:

- Identity of person giving the service(s)
- Date of service
- Patient's signs and symptoms
- Detail of the services rendered and items furnished
- Indication of where the services were given
- Signed orders for services and the clinical rationale for the orders
- Rationale for the level of care given
- Intensity, frequency, duration, and scope of services
- Legible signature of the person rendering the service and the physician ordering and approving treatment plans (if signature is not legible, include a signature log showing name in print and signature).
