2024 Cost Measure Field Test Report User Access Guide

This guide provides instructions on how to access your Cost Measure Field Test Report from the Quality Payment Program website.¹

To access your Field Test Report, you must sign in to the Quality Payment Program website. If you don’t have a user ID and password that lets you sign in to the site, you’ll need to register for a HCQIS Access Roles and Profile (HARP) account in order to sign in. For information on registering for a HARP Account and requesting the appropriate access for your organization, please see the Quality Payment Program Access User Guide (ZIP, 3.6 MB), which provides step-by-step instructions with screenshots and troubleshooting information.

Overview of Field Testing

Field testing is taking place from February 1 to February 29, 2024. As a part of the measure development process, field testing is an opportunity for clinicians and other interested parties to learn about episode-based cost measures and provide input on the draft specifications. During field testing, we'll:

- Distribute Field Test Reports on the Quality Payment Program website for group practices and solo practitioners who meet the minimum number of cases for each measure.
- Post draft measure specifications (i.e., methodology and codes list) and supplemental documentation, such as testing results, on the CMS.gov QPP Cost Measure Information pages.²
- Collect interested party feedback on the draft specifications for each measure.

Clinicians are identified by a unique Taxpayer Identification Number (TIN) and National Provider Identifier (NPI) combination (TIN-NPI), while clinician groups are identified by their TIN. Field Test Reports will be available at the clinician group practice and solo practitioner (or clinician) levels. For clinician group practices, the group practice must meet the minimum number of cases for the measures across all clinicians billing under the group practice TIN. For solo practitioners, the individual clinician must meet the minimum number of cases. The information in the Field Test Report is for field testing purposes only and doesn't affect clinicians’ and clinician groups’ MIPS scores. The measurement period for the Field Test Report is January 1 to December 31, 2022.

Accessing the Cost Measure Field Test Report

Once you’re able to log in to the Quality Payment Program website and have the appropriate role and access to your organization or as an individual clinician, follow the steps below to access your Cost Measure Field Test Report.

Step 1: Sign In

To sign in, navigate to the Quality Payment Program website and click “Sign In” on the upper right-hand corner of the landing page.
Once you have a HARP account and access to your organization, input your user ID and password to sign in to the Quality Payment Program website.

Step 2: Locate the Reports Page

Step 3: Choose “View Group Reports” or “View Clinician Reports”
Depending on your role and access, you may have permission to view a number of organizations’ or individual clinicians’ reports. Choose the organization for which you would like to review the Field Test Report and click “View Group Reports” or “View Clinician Reports.” If you choose to view clinician reports, you’ll have the option to review the list of clinicians associated with the organization for whom reports are available.
Step 4: Download and Review Field Test Reports

Once you select whose Field Test Report to review, you'll land on the “Download Files” page. If your group or an individual in the group met the minimum number of cases for at least one of the episode-based cost measures undergoing field testing, you'll be able to review a Field Test Report. Select the field test period that you would like to review and download the available report(s).

If your group or an individual in your group didn’t meet the case minimum to receive a Field Test Report, you may still provide feedback on the measure specifications and review a mock Field Test Report. Draft measure specifications documentation and the mock Field Test Reports are available for review on the CMS.gov QPP Cost Measure Information pages.
