Medicare Open Enrollment in Alabama, 2024

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) offers seniors, people with end-stage renal disease (ESRD), and people with disabilities several insurance options, including Traditional Medicare, Medicare Advantage, and Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. The costs and covered benefits of different plan options can change from year to year. People with Medicare can review coverage choices and make changes during Medicare Open Enrollment, October 15-December 7, 2023.

Nationally, the average premiums and benefits for Medicare Advantage plans — private health plans that generally cover all Medicare Part A and Part B benefits— as well as plan choice will remain stable in 2024.

Total Medicare Part D premiums are also expected to remain stable. In 2024, through the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare prescription drug coverage who fall into the catastrophic phase of the prescription drug benefit won’t have to pay anything out of pocket during that phase for covered Medicare prescription drugs. Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

CMS provides price and quality information to empower people with Medicare to choose coverage options that are the best fit for them. While reviewing their health care coverage, enrollees can consider new or different plans and possibly save money. Information on these resources is below.

The MSPs cover Medicare premiums and may also cover Medicare deductibles, coinsurance and copayments if people meet the eligibility requirements in their state. Enrolling in an MSP offers relief from these Medicare costs, allowing people to spend that money on other necessities like food, housing, or transportation. Learn more about MSPs.

In addition, the Low-Income Subsidy Program, also called Extra Help, is a Medicare program that helps qualifying individuals pay Part D premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and other costs. In 2024, this program is expanding thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, allowing all eligible enrollees to benefit from no deductible, no premium, and fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Enrollees can save nearly $300 per year, on average, according to estimates; up to 3 million seniors and people with disabilities could benefit from the Extra Help program now but aren’t currently enrolled. Individuals who enroll in MSPs automatically qualify for help affording their prescription drugs through the Extra Help program. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) offers seniors, people with end-stage renal disease (ESRD), and people with disabilities several insurance options, including Traditional Medicare, Medicare Advantage, and Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. The costs and covered benefits of different plan options can change from year to year. People with Medicare can review coverage choices and make changes during Medicare Open Enrollment, October 15-December 7, 2023.

Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

Medicare.gov, as well as the Medicare Plan Finder, provide clear, easy-to-use information to allow people with Medicare to compare their personalized options for health and drug coverage. Medicare Plan Finder will be updated with the 2024 Medicare health and prescription drug plan information by October 1, 2023. 1-800-MEDICARE is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide help in English and Spanish as well as language support in over 200 additional languages.

In addition, Medicare enrollees can contact their State Health Insurance Assistance Programs for one-on-one assistance. People who want to keep their current Medicare coverage do not need to re-enroll.

To help with their Medicare costs, low-income seniors and adults with disabilities may qualify to receive financial assistance from the Medicare Savings Programs (MSPs). The MSPs are essential to help millions of Americans access high-quality health care at a reduced cost, yet only about half of eligible people are enrolled. The MSPs cover Medicare premiums and may also cover Medicare deductibles, coinsurance and copayments if people meet the eligibility requirements in their state. Enrolling in an MSP offers relief from these Medicare costs, allowing people to spend that money on other necessities like food, housing, or transportation. Learn more about MSPs.

In addition, the Low-Income Subsidy Program, also called Extra Help, is a Medicare program that helps qualifying individuals pay Part D premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and other costs. In 2024, this program is expanding thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, allowing all eligible enrollees to benefit from no deductible, no premium, and fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Enrollees can save nearly $300 per year, on average, according to estimates; up to 3 million seniors and people with disabilities could benefit from the Extra Help program now but aren’t currently enrolled. Individuals who enroll in MSPs automatically qualify for help affording their prescription drugs through the Extra Help program. In addition, the Low-Income Subsidy Program, also called Extra Help, is a Medicare program that helps qualifying individuals pay Part D premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and other costs. In 2024, this program is expanding thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, allowing all eligible enrollees to benefit from no deductible, no premium, and fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Enrollees can save nearly $300 per year, on average, according to estimates; up to 3 million seniors and people with disabilities could benefit from the Extra Help program now but aren’t currently enrolled. Individuals who enroll in MSPs automatically qualify for help affording their prescription drugs through the Extra Help program. Medicare 开放报名在缅因州，2024

美国医疗保险和医疗救助服务（CMS）为老年人、晚期肾病（ESRD）患者和残疾人提供多种保险选择，包括传统医疗保险、医疗保险优势计划和医疗保险部分D医疗保险计划。不同计划选择的成本和涵盖的益处可能会发生变化。有医疗保险的人可以在医疗保险开放报名期间，10月15日至12月7日，2023年，审查保险选择并做出改变。

在全国范围内，医疗保险优势计划的平均保费和益处预计将在2024年保持稳定。医疗保险部分D计划的总保费也预计将保持稳定。通过《通胀减少法案》，有医疗保险的药房支出保护期的患者将无需支付处方药费用。由于《通胀减少法案》，有医疗保险部分D计划的患者已经看到了改善的益处，包括35美元的月用量共享限制和推荐的成人疫苗免费。

由于《通胀减少法案》，有医疗保险的患者可能获得更多的节省，通过额外帮助计划。这个计划帮助一些人支付医疗保险部分D计划的费用，如保费、豁免和分享。2024年，额外帮助计划的全面益处的资格将得到扩大，所有参保人将支付没有豁免、没有保费和降低的自付费用。

CMS 提供价格和质量信息，以帮助有医疗保险的人选择适合自己的保险计划。在审查健康保险计划时，参保人可以考虑新计划或不同计划，并可能节省资金。这些资源的信息如下。

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) offers seniors, people with end-stage renal disease (ESRD), and people with disabilities several insurance options, including Traditional Medicare, Medicare Advantage, and Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. The costs and covered benefits of different plan options can change from year to year. People with Medicare can review coverage choices and make changes during Medicare Open Enrollment, October 15-December 7, 2023.

Nationally, the average premiums and benefits for Medicare Advantage plans — private health plans that generally cover all Medicare Part A and Part B benefits— as well as plan choice will remain stable in 2024.

Total Medicare Part D premiums are also expected to remain stable. Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

2024 Medicare Open Enrollment Resources

Medicare.gov, as well as the Medicare Plan Finder, provide clear, easy-to-use information to allow people with Medicare to compare their personalized options for health and drug coverage. Medicare Plan Finder will be updated with the 2024 Medicare health and prescription drug plan information by October 1, 2023. 1-800-MEDICARE is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide help in English and Spanish as well as language support in over 200 additional languages.

In addition, Medicare enrollees can contact their State Health Insurance Assistance Programs for one-on-one assistance. People who want to keep their current Medicare coverage do not need to re-enroll.

To help with their Medicare costs, low-income seniors and adults with disabilities may qualify to receive financial assistance from the Medicare Savings Programs (MSPs). The MSPs are essential to help millions of Americans access high-quality health care at a reduced cost, yet only about half of eligible people are enrolled. The MSPs cover Medicare premiums and may also cover Medicare deductibles, coinsurance and copayments if people meet the eligibility requirements in their state. Enrolling in an MSP offers relief from these Medicare costs, allowing people to spend that money on other necessities like food, housing, or transportation. Learn more about MSPs.

In addition, the Low-Income Subsidy Program, also called Extra Help, is a Medicare program that helps qualifying individuals pay Part D premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and other costs. In 2024, this program is expanding thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, allowing all eligible enrollees to benefit from no deductible, no premium, and fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Enrollees can save nearly $300 per year, on average, according to estimates; up to 3 million seniors and people with disabilities could benefit from the Extra Help program now but aren’t currently enrolled. Individuals who enroll in MSPs automatically qualify for help affording their prescription drugs through the Extra Help program. Medicare Open Enrollment in Mississippi, 2024

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) offers seniors, people with end-stage renal disease (ESRD), and people with disabilities several insurance options, including Traditional Medicare, Medicare Advantage, and Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. The costs and covered benefits of different plan options can change from year to year. People with Medicare can review coverage choices and make changes during Medicare Open Enrollment, October 15-December 7, 2023.

In 2024, through the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare prescription drug coverage who fall into the catastrophic phase of the prescription drug benefit won’t have to pay anything out of pocket during that phase for covered Medicare prescription drugs. Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

To help with their Medicare costs, low-income seniors and adults with disabilities may qualify to receive financial assistance from the Medicare Savings Programs (MSPs). The MSPs are essential to help millions of Americans access high-quality health care at a reduced cost, yet only about half of eligible people are enrolled. The MSPs cover Medicare premiums and may also cover Medicare deductibles, coinsurance and copayments if people meet the eligibility requirements in their state. Enrolling in an MSP offers relief from these Medicare costs, allowing people to spend that money on other necessities like food, housing, or transportation. Learn more about MSPs.

In addition, the Low-Income Subsidy Program, also called Extra Help, is a Medicare program that helps qualifying individuals pay Part D premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and other costs. In 2024, this program is expanding thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, allowing all eligible enrollees to benefit from no deductible, no premium, and fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Enrollees can save nearly $300 per year, on average, according to estimates; up to 3 million seniors and people with disabilities could benefit from the Extra Help program now but aren’t currently enrolled. Individuals who enroll in MSPs automatically qualify for help affording their prescription drugs through the Extra Help program. The costs and covered benefits of different plan options can change from year to year. People with Medicare can review coverage choices and make changes during Medicare Open Enrollment, October 15-December 7, 2023.

Nationally, the average premiums and benefits for Medicare Advantage plans — private health plans that generally cover all Medicare Part A and Part B benefits— as well as plan choice will remain stable in 2024.

Total Medicare Part D premiums are also expected to remain stable. In 2024, through the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare prescription drug coverage who fall into the catastrophic phase of the prescription drug benefit won’t have to pay anything out of pocket during that phase for covered Medicare prescription drugs. Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

CMS provides price and quality information to empower people with Medicare to choose coverage options that are the best fit for them. While reviewing their health care coverage, enrollees can consider new or different plans and possibly save money. Information on these resources is below.

2024 Medicare Open Enrollment Resources

Medicare.gov, as well as the Medicare Plan Finder, provide clear, easy-to-use information to allow people with Medicare to compare their personalized options for health and drug coverage. Medicare Plan Finder will be updated with the 2024 Medicare health and prescription drug plan information by October 1, 2023. 1-800-MEDICARE is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide help in English and Spanish as well as language support in over 200 additional languages.

In addition, Medicare enrollees can contact their State Health Insurance Assistance Programs for one-on-one assistance. People who want to keep their current Medicare coverage do not need to re-enroll.

To help with their Medicare costs, low-income seniors and adults with disabilities may qualify to receive financial assistance from the Medicare Savings Programs (MSPs). The MSPs are essential to help millions of Americans access high-quality health care at a reduced cost, yet only about half of eligible people are enrolled. The MSPs cover Medicare premiums and may also cover Medicare deductibles, coinsurance and copayments if people meet the eligibility requirements in their state. Enrolling in an MSP offers relief from these Medicare costs, allowing people to spend that money on other necessities like food, housing, or transportation. Learn more about MSPs.

In addition, the Low-Income Subsidy Program, also called Extra Help, is a Medicare program that helps qualifying individuals pay Part D premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and other costs. In 2024, this program is expanding thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, allowing all eligible enrollees to benefit from no deductible, no premium, and fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Enrollees can save nearly $300 per year, on average, according to estimates; up to 3 million seniors and people with disabilities could benefit from the Extra Help program now but aren’t currently enrolled. Individuals who enroll in MSPs automatically qualify for help affording their prescription drugs through the Extra Help program. The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) offers seniors, people with end-stage renal disease (ESRD), and people with disabilities several insurance options, including Traditional Medicare, Medicare Advantage, and Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. The costs and covered benefits of different plan options can change from year to year. People with Medicare can review coverage choices and make changes during Medicare Open Enrollment, October 15-December 7, 2023.

Nationally, the average premiums and benefits for Medicare Advantage plans — private health plans that generally cover all Medicare Part A and Part B benefits — as well as plan choice will remain stable in 2024.

Total Medicare Part D premiums are also expected to remain stable. In 2024, through the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare prescription drug coverage who fall into the catastrophic phase of the prescription drug benefit won’t have to pay anything out of pocket during that phase for covered Medicare prescription drugs. Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

CMS provides price and quality information to empower people with Medicare to choose coverage options that are the best fit for them. While reviewing their health care coverage, enrollees can consider new or different plans and possibly save money. Information on these resources is below.

Medicare Plan Finder will be updated with the 2024 Medicare health and prescription drug plan information by October 1, 2023. 1-800-MEDICARE is available 24 hours a day, seven days a week to provide help in English and Spanish as well as language support in over 200 additional languages.

To help with their Medicare costs, low-income seniors and adults with disabilities may qualify to receive financial assistance from the Medicare Savings Programs (MSPs). The MSPs are essential to help millions of Americans access high-quality health care at a reduced cost, yet only about half of eligible people are enrolled. The MSPs cover Medicare premiums and may also cover Medicare deductibles, coinsurance and copayments if people meet the eligibility requirements in their state. Enrolling in an MSP offers relief from these Medicare costs, allowing people to spend that money on other necessities like food, housing, or transportation. Learn more about MSPs.

In addition, the Low-Income Subsidy Program, also called Extra Help, is a Medicare program that helps qualifying individuals pay Part D premiums, deductibles, coinsurance, and other costs. In 2024, this program is expanding thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, allowing all eligible enrollees to benefit from no deductible, no premium, and fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Enrollees can save nearly $300 per year, on average, according to estimates; up to 3 million seniors and people with disabilities could benefit from the Extra Help program now but aren’t currently enrolled. Individuals who enroll in MSPs automatically qualify for help affording their prescription drugs through the Extra Help program. Medicare Open Enrollment in Texas, 2024

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) offers seniors, people with end-stage renal disease (ESRD), and people with disabilities several insurance options, including Traditional Medicare, Medicare Advantage, and Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. The costs and covered benefits of different plan options can change from year to year. People with Medicare can review coverage choices and make changes during Medicare Open Enrollment, October 15-December 7, 2023.

Nationally, the average premiums and benefits for Medicare Advantage plans — private health plans that generally cover all Medicare Part A and Part B benefits — as well as plan choice will remain stable in 2024.

Total Medicare Part D premiums are also expected to remain stable. In 2024, through the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare prescription drug coverage who fall into the catastrophic phase of the prescription drug benefit won’t have to pay anything out of pocket during that phase for covered Medicare prescription drugs. Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

CMS provides price and quality information to empower people with Medicare to choose coverage options that are the best fit for them. While reviewing their health care coverage, enrollees can consider new or different plans and possibly save money. Information on these resources is below.

Total Medicare Part D premiums are also expected to remain stable. In 2024, through the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare prescription drug coverage who fall into the catastrophic phase of the prescription drug benefit won’t have to pay anything out of pocket during that phase for covered Medicare prescription drugs. Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) offers seniors, people with end-stage renal disease (ESRD), and people with disabilities several insurance options, including Traditional Medicare, Medicare Advantage, and Medicare Part D prescription drug plans. The costs and covered benefits of different plan options can change from year to year. People with Medicare can review coverage choices and make changes during Medicare Open Enrollment, October 15-December 7, 2023.

Nationally, the average premiums and benefits for Medicare Advantage plans — private health plans that generally cover all Medicare Part A and Part B benefits as well as plan choice will remain stable in 2024.

Total Medicare Part D premiums are also expected to remain stable. In 2024, through the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare prescription drug coverage who fall into the catastrophic phase of the prescription drug benefit won’t have to pay anything out of pocket during that phase for covered Medicare prescription drugs. Because of the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare Part D coverage already see improved benefits, including a $35 cost-sharing limit on a month’s supply of each covered insulin product and recommended adult vaccines at no cost.

Thanks to the Inflation Reduction Act, people with Medicare may qualify for even more savings through the Extra Help program. This program helps some people pay their Medicare drug coverage (Part D) costs like premiums, deductibles, and cost sharing. In 2024, there will be expanded eligibility for full benefits under the program, meaning all enrollees will pay no deductible, no premium, and benefit from fixed lower copayments for certain medications. Learn more about the Extra Help program, including eligibility criteria and how to apply.

CMS provides price and quality information to empower people with Medicare to choose coverage options that are the best fit for them. While reviewing their health care coverage, enrollees can consider new or different plans and possibly save money. Information on these resources is below.
