Putting Patients First in Kidney Care!

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services are revolutionizing kidney care by putting patients at the center of healthcare transformation.

Through the groundbreaking End Stage Renal Disease (ESRD) Network Program, kidney patients, families, and caregivers are no longer passive recipients! They're active partners shaping the future of kidney healthcare!

What this means:

- Direct engagement opportunities with CMS
- Your voice drives patient-centered improvements
- Peer-to-peer learning from high-performing facilities
- Robust grievance management ensures every concern is heard

CMS Launches Unprecedented Patient Engagement Initiative to Transform Kidney Care

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services is implementing a groundbreaking patient engagement strategy within its End Stage Renal Disease (ESRD) Networks to fundamentally shift the paradigm from patients as passive care recipients to active partners in healthcare transformation.

Key Program Components:

- Collaborative Platform: Uniting kidney patients, families, caregivers, and ESRD stakeholders to create a unified voice for patient-centered improvements

- Direct CMS Engagement: Providing networking opportunities for ESRD patients and families to contribute directly to quality improvement initiatives
- Peer-to-Peer Learning: Coalitions of high-performing facilities and subject matter experts mentor facilities needing support
- Comprehensive Grievance Management: Robust systems ensuring prompt attention and resolution of patient concerns with trend analysis

This initiative represents authentic engagement where beneficiary insights directly inform future healthcare programs and kidney care planning initiatives. For millions of Americans living with kidney disease, this marks a transformative approach to patient-centered care delivery.
