LTSS in Our Community: Tribal Nursing Home & Assisted Living Facility Directory

Introduction

The Tribal Nursing Home & Assisted Living Facility Directory lists information about each tribally operated nursing home and tribally operated assisted living facility in the country. Updated annually, it includes tribal affiliation, physical address, certification, number of beds, and year opened. Figure 1 shows the various locations by region and type. Additionally, this directory provides a brief overview of Long-Term Care Ombudsman programs and Quality Improvement Organizations. Please report corrections to LTSSinfo@KauffmanInc.com.

Long-Term Care Ombudsman

Long-Term Care (LTC) Ombudsman programs help resolve health, safety, and welfare issues and advocate for the rights of individuals living in LTC facilities, like nursing homes and assisted living facilities. Each state manages an LTC Ombudsman program. The program is directed by the Older Americans Act to:

- Identify, investigate, and resolve complaints made by or on behalf of residents
- Provide information to residents about long-term services and supports
- Ensure that residents have regular and timely access to ombudsman services
- Represent the interests of residents before governmental agencies
- Seek administrative, legal, and other remedies to protect residents
- Analyze, comment on, and recommend changes in laws and regulations pertaining to the health, safety, welfare, and rights of residents

To learn more about the LTC Ombudsman program and to find your area’s ombudsman program, visit: TheConsumerVoice.org/home

Quality Improvement Organizations

Quality Improvement Organizations (QIOs) aim to improve the effectiveness, efficiency, economy, and quality of services delivered to Medicare beneficiaries. QIOs are required under Sections 1152-1154 of the Social Security Act. Their core functions are to:

- Improve quality of care for beneficiaries
- Protect the integrity of the Medicare Trust Fund by ensuring that Medicare pays only for services and goods that are reasonable and necessary and that are provided in the most appropriate setting and
- Protect beneficiaries by addressing individual complaints, such as provider-based notices of appeal and violations of the Emergency Medical Treatment and Labor Act

There are several types of QIO programs. Table 10 outlines the differences between Beneficiary and Family Centered Care (BFCC)-QIOs and Quality Innovation Network (QIN)-QIOs.

Table 10. BFCC-QIOs and QIN-QIOs

BFCC QIOs	QIN QIOs
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Help Medicare beneficiaries exercise their right to high-quality health care • Manage beneficiary complaints and quality-of-care reviews • Manage beneficiary appeals of a health care provider’s decision to discharge them from the hospital or discontinue other types of services 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Bring Medicare beneficiaries, providers, and communities together in data-driven initiatives to: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▪ Increase patient safety ▪ Make communities healthier ▪ Better coordinate post-hospital care ▪ Improve clinical quality

Additionally, the CMS American Indian Alaska Native Quality Improvement Program offers technical assistance to Medicare-certified nursing homes managed by Indian Health Service, tribes, and urban Indian organizations.
