

HPMS E-Mail

Date: October 11, 2022

Subject: VBID Health Equity Incubation Program Resources: Use Cases and Webinar Materials

The Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation (CMMI)'s Value-Based Insurance Design (VBID) Model Team is pleased to announce the release of a collection of resources to help support Medicare Advantage Organizations (MAOs) in advancing health equity.

Now posted on the VBID Model Website are two use-case documents that provide MAOs with information on how to participate in the VBID Model to address food and nutritional insecurity and transportation barriers. These use-case documents outline the following topics related to offering supplemental benefits through the VBID Model to address health-related social needs: investment rationale, groundwork for a successful intervention, potential target populations, illustrative Model interventions, financial implications, and measurement tools.

As an additional update, materials from the September 15, 2022 Health Equity Incubation Program \(HEIP\) webinar titled, "Leveraging VBID to Improve Equity in Transportation Access" have also been posted to the VBID Model Website. These materials include the slides, transcript, recording, and a transportation resource guide provided by the Administration for Community Living (ACL).

You can also find materials from previous webinars in the HEIP series on the VBID Model Website, including the June 30, 2022 webinar titled, "Advancing Health Equity in Diabetes Care and Outcomes" and the March 31, 2022 webinar titled, "Addressing Food and Nutritional Insecurity."

Be on the lookout for information regarding the next HEIP webinar. This upcoming webinar will be held on December 8th, 2022, from 3-4:30 PM ET and will focus on ways to address housing instability and related quality issues.