Note: Unique patients are identified by using a combination of SSN, first name, surname, sex, Medicare claim number and birth date. A matching process is performed to ensure that minor typos and misspellings do not cause a patient record to fall out of their history. The matching process is able to successfully match 99.5% of patients. The remaining patients have incomplete or incorrect data that does not allow them to be matched.

Detailed SEDR Risk Model Specifications

The modeling process has two stages. At stage I, a stratified model is fitted to the national data with piecewise-constant baseline rates and stratification by facility. Specifically, the model is of the following form where X_{ik} is the vector of covariates for the i^{th} patient in the k^{th} facility and β is the vector of regression coefficients. Time t is measured from the start of ESRD. The baseline rate function $r_{0k}(t)$ is specific to the k^{th} facility, and is assumed to be a step function with break points at 6 months, 1 year, 2 years, 3 years and 5 years since the onset of dialysis. This model allows the baseline emergency department rates to vary between strata (facilities), but assumes that the regression coefficients are the same across all strata; this approach is robust to possible differences between facilities in the patient mix being treated. The stratification on facilities is important in this phase to avoid bias due to possible confounding between covariates and facility effects.

$$Pr(\text{Emergency department encounter on day } t \text{ given covariates } X) = r_{0k}(t)\exp(\beta'X_{ik})$$

At stage II, the relative risk estimates from the first stage are used to create offsets and an unstratified model is fitted to obtain estimates of an overall baseline rate function. That is, we estimate a common baseline rate of encounters, $r_0(t)$, across all facilities by considering the model where $R_{ik} = \exp(\beta'X_{ik})$ is the estimated relative risk for patient i in facility k obtained from the stage I. In our computation, we assume the baseline to be a step function with 6 unknown parameters, $\alpha_1, \dots, \alpha_6$, to estimate. These estimates are used to compute the expected number of encounters given a patient's characteristics.

$$Pr(\text{Emergency department encounter on day } t \text{ given covariates } X) = r_0(t) R_{ik},$$

Specifically, let t_{iks} represent the number of days that patient i from facility k is under observation in the s^{th} time interval with estimated rate α_s . The corresponding expected number of emergency department encounters in the s^{th} interval for this patient is calculated as

$$E_{iks} = \alpha_s t_{iks} R_{ik}.$$

It should be noted that t_{iks} and hence E_{iks} can be 0 if patient i from facility k is never at risk during the s^{th} time interval. Summing the E_{iks} over all 6 intervals and all N_k patients in facility k gives

$$\text{Exp} = \sum_{i=1}^{N_k} \sum_{s=1}^6 E_{iks} = \sum_{i=1}^{N_k} \sum_{s=1}^6 \alpha_s t_{iks} R_{ik},$$ which is the expected number of emergency department encounters during follow-up at that facility.

Let Obs be the observed total number of emergency department encounters at this facility. The SEDR for emergency department encounters is the ratio of the observed total encounters to this expected value, or

$$\text{SEDR} = \text{Obs}/\text{Exp}$$

Patient-Level Risk Adjustors

- Age: We determine each patient's age for the birth date provided in the CROWNWeb database and group patients into the following categories:
 - 18-24
 - 25-44
 - 45-59
 - 60-74
 - 75+
- Sex: We determine each patient's sex from his/her Medical Evidence Form (CMS-2728) and the CROWNWeb database.
- Diabetes as cause of ESRD: We determine each patient's primary cause of ESRD from his/her CMS-2728.
- ESRD duration: We determine each patient's length of time on dialysis using the first service date from his/her CMS-2728, claims history (all claim types), the CROWNWeb database and the SRTR database and categorize as 91 days-6 months, 6 months-1 year, 1-2 years, 2-3 years, 3-5 years, or 5+ years as of the period start date.
- Nursing home status: Using the Nursing Home Minimum Dataset, we determine if a patient was in a nursing home the previous year.
- BMI: We calculate each patient's BMI as the height and weight provided on his/her CMS 2728. BMI is categorized as underweight, normal weight, overweight, or obese.
- Calendar year
- The following incident comorbidities are included. They are taken from the CMS-2728 form. Each comorbidity is included as a separate covariate in the model.
 - Alcohol dependence
 - Atherosclerotic heart disease
 - Cerebrovascular disease
 - Chronic obstructive pulmonary disease
 - Congestive heart failure
 - Diabetes
 - Drug dependence
 - Inability to ambulate
 - Inability to transfer

- Malignant neoplasm or cancer
- Other cardiac disease
- Peripheral vascular disease
- Tobacco use (current smoker)
- Prevalent comorbidities (see appendix A) are determined using the previous 12 months of CMS claims after the index encounter. The fiscal year 2015 Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality Clinical Classification Software (AHRQ CCS) single-level diagnoses groupers were used to define the prevalent comorbidity risk factors. Each comorbidity is included as a separate covariate in the model. If a patient has less than 6 months of claims in the year before the analysis, we consider prevalent comorbidities to be “missing” for that patient even if there are comorbidities identified in claims.

Inter-Unit Reliability (IUR) Calculation

A small IUR (near 0) reveals that most of the variation of the measures between facilities is driven by random noise, indicating the measure would not be a good characterization of the differences among facilities, whereas a large IUR (near 1) indicates that most of the variation between facilities is due to the real difference between facilities.

Here we describe our approach to calculating IUR. Let T_1, \dots, T_N be the SEDR for these facilities. Within each facility, select at random and with replacement B bootstrap samples. Our numerical experiments reveal that $B=100$ is sufficient. That is, if the i th facility has n_i subjects, randomly draw with replacement n_i subjects from those in the same facility, find their corresponding SEDR $_i$ and repeat the process B (say, 100) times. Thus, for the i th facility, we have bootstrapped SEDRs of $T_{i1}^, \dots, T_{i200}^$. Let S_i^* be the sample variance of this bootstrap sample. From this it can be seen that is a bootstrap estimate of the within-facility variance in the SEDR, namely, $\sigma_{t,w}^2$. Calling on formulas from the one way analysis of variance, an estimate of the overall variance of T_i is

$$s_{t,w}^2 = \frac{\sum_{i=1}^N [(n_i - 1) S_i^{*2}]}{\sum_{i=1}^N (n_i - 1)}$$

$$s_t^2 = \frac{1}{n'(N-1)} \sum_{i=1}^N n_i (T_i - \bar{T})^2$$

where

$$\bar{T} = \sum n_i T_i / \sum n_i$$

is the weighted mean of the observed SEDR and $$n' = \frac{1}{N-1} (\sum n_i - \sum n_i^2 / \sum n_i)$$ is approximately the average facility size (number of patients per facility). Note that s_t^2 is the total variation of SEDR and is an estimate of $\sigma_b^2 + \sigma_{t,w}^2$, where σ_b^2 is the between-facility variance, the true signal reflecting the differences across facilities. Thus, the estimated IUR, which is defined by can be estimated with $(s_t^2 - s_{t,w}^2)/s_t^2$.

$$IUR = \frac{\sigma_b^2}{\sigma_b^2 + \sigma_{t,w}^2}$$

The SEDR calculation is only reported for facilities with at least 5 patient years at risk.
