

Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services
Serving American Indians and Alaska Natives in California

Serving American Indians and Alaska Natives

Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) staff work with beneficiaries, health care providers, state government, CMS contractors, community groups and others to provide education and address questions in California.

American Indians and Alaska Natives

If you have questions about CMS programs in relation to American Indians or Alaska Natives:

- email the CMS Division of Tribal Affairs at tribalaffairs@cms.hhs.gov, or
- contact a CMS Native American Contact (NAC). For a list of NAC and their information, visit <https://go.cms.gov/NACTAGlist>

Why enroll in CMS programs?

When you sign up for Medicaid, the Children's Health Insurance Program, or Medicare, the Indian health hospitals and clinics can bill these programs for services provided. Enrolling in these programs brings money into the health care facility, which is then used to hire more staff, pay for new equipment and building renovations, and saves Purchased and Referred Care dollars for other patients. Patients who enroll in CMS programs are not only helping themselves and others, but they're also supporting their Indian health care hospital and clinics.
