How the coverage helps.

Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage can help you by covering both brand name and generic prescription drugs at participating pharmacies close to where you live.

A typical person with Medicare could see his or her total drug expenses drop by about 50%. Qualified people with limited income and resources will have almost no drug expenses.

Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage can also help down the road. As we age and our medical conditions change, our need for prescription drugs may increase. And, Medicare, like most insurance, will cover a significant portion of prescription drug bills. And, if you have high out-of-pocket costs, Medicare will pay 95% of your prescription drug costs, after you pay $3600.

How the coverage works.

Medicare Prescription Drug Coverage is insurance. Private companies provide the coverage. You choose the drug plan and pay a monthly premium. When you join a plan, Medicare helps pay the bill.

Extra help is available for people with limited income and resources. People who may qualify will receive an application in the mail this summer.

As with any insurance program, you have options. Later this year, you will receive information on what your drug plan options are. Although these plans will meet Medicare's stringent requirements, they may differ in terms of costs and coverage. If you already have good drug coverage through a retiree plan or Medicare Advantage Plan, Medicare can provide help with its cost.

Everyone who is eligible for Medicare is eligible for prescription drug coverage.

How to join.

Join a Medicare Prescription Drug Plan from November 15, 2005 through May 15, 2006. Enrollment is voluntary. You must join a plan to get the coverage.

Just like other insurance, you can pay less if you don't wait to sign up.

If you don't sign up with a plan by May 15th, you may have to pay a penalty. Your next chance will be November 15 through December 31 of each year.

Even if you do not take a lot of prescription drugs now, it's still good to consider joining. As we age, most people need prescription drugs to stay healthy. Enrolling now means you pay a lower monthly premium than if you join after the open enrollment period ends on May 15, 2006.
