

Closing Remarks

Stacey Plizga, PRI

Stacey Plizga: Okay, and just a reminder. This conference will provide participants with the opportunity to earn CCB CEUs. So, to obtain those, please complete the CMS attendance survey that can be found on the participant survey instructions that are posted on the CTEO website and also on those cards that we left at your table.

If you would like to evaluate today's event, go ahead and – excuse me – enter A, and then follow the link, and that will take you to the participant survey to evaluate today's event.

If you did not participate in the polling today but you would like to provide your feedback on today's events, a link to the event survey will be emailed to you. Or you can connect to the survey using the QR code that was given to you at registration. Or you can go to that participant survey instruction that's on the CTEO website and follow that link or that QR code to get to the survey.

So, pretty much that wraps things up for us today. And I would just like to thank all of our presenters for taking the time to prepare for today and the dedication to do so. We appreciate everything that you do. And, of course, all of our in-house guests and all of our webcast audience for your participation today.

Thank you, everybody. That concludes today's events, and have a wonderful evening.
