Attachment – One-Time Notification

Pub. 100-20 Transmittal: 137 Date: January 28, 2005 Change Request 3598

SUBJECT: Instructions to Contractors regarding aged, pre-settlement cases and Inter-Contractor Notices (ICN)s.

- 1. Non-lead contractors' aged, pre-settlement liability, Workers' Compensation (WC) and auto/no fault cases on which there has been no correspondence received from either an attorney or other interested party for 3 years or longer shall be stored at the offices of the contractors in an easily accessible place.
- 2. Contractors on ReMAS shall stop sending Inter-Contractor Notices (ICN) to other contractors. Any ICNs received from a contractor on ReMAS are to be destroyed. Further, such ICNs shall not be counted as correspondence workload.
- 3. Contractors having received ICNs, and have not processed them, should shred them.

3a. Exception: If a contractor receives ICNs from FCSO prior to December 8, 2004, they shall respond. Contractors responding to FCSO ICN requests shall track the volume and cost and funding will be made available.

I. GENERAL INFORMATION

A. Background: Implementation of the ReMAS system affords contractors the ability to enter (manually) established (back logged) liability, WC and auto/no fault cases that have not reached settlement status into ReMAS and then gather claims information through ReMAS rather than through the ICN process. It is asserted that pre-settlement cases, 3 years or older, are not likely to net a recovery. The non-lead contractors initially were asked to analyze such cases and make a determination, with the assistance of the RO, as to the viability of said cases. After considering budgetary concerns that have been raised, it has been decided that all pre-settlement cases, 3 years or older, shall be retained and stored at the offices of the current non-lead contractors. These cases shall be readily available for transfer to the lead fiscal intermediary if, or when, subsequent inquiries or correspondence (including checks) are received from an attorney or another interested party.

Several contractors on ReMAS are currently still sending ICNs. Lead contractors on ReMAS shall not send ICNs to other contractors. Contractors shall destroy any ICNs in their possession, even those that are pending, except for ICNs from FCSO. Contractors shall respond to ICNs from FSCO until further notice. ICNs that are destroyed are not to be counted or included in the correspondence workload figures.
